Enjoy free digital access to the New York Times on the library's public computers, and access from home!

In the library:

Log on to a computer, and visit prendergastlibrary.org/nytimes. Follow the instructions to access the New York Times.

You will need to log in to your account. If you do not have an New York Times account, you will need to create an account using your email address.*

Remote access:

Visit prendergastlibrary.org/nytimes from your computer or device to activate a 72-hour pass for remote access. Once this pass expires, you can activate another code.

You will need to log in to your account. If you do not have an account with the New York Times, you will need to register with your email address.*

*Registering an email address will sign you up for promotional email from the New York Times. You can opt out of these emails when registering.

Access provided by the James Prendergast Library